- i) Enhancing the availability of teachers to meet the demands of the education systems. This would involve an analysis of the present policies and institutional/organizational structures at the local, district, state and national level for teacher development and management; and the development of a comprehensive policy and strategy to address issues relating to the preparation, recruitment and deployment of teachers;
- ii) Ensuring that all the existing set of teachers are provided with continuing professional development opportunities, and that teachers are properly supported with appropriate working conditions and adequately remunerated to ensure high levels of teacher performance, morale and motivation;
- iii) Development of guidelines/frameworks for the improvement of the existing institutional structures and processes involved in the continuing professional development of teachers, with a view to ensuring that teachers at all levels would receive high quality professional development opportunities that prepare them for carrying out their duties in diverse social, economic, cultural, and technological contexts;

- iv) Formulating strategies for attracting and retaining talented youth into the teaching profession; significantly raising the social and professional status of teachers; ensuring that teachers are properly supported with appropriate working conditions and incentives for performance that are needed to sustain high levels of teacher motivation and morale; giving teachers a sense of belonging and leadership in their profession and involving them more in policy dialogues and in participatory action research within their own teaching environments;
- v) Enhancing quality of teaching, teacher education and teacher training and use of technology
- vi) Formulating guidelines for recruitment as also provision of necessary facilities for the differently abled teachers in schools, colleges and other educational institutions to make education inclusive at all levels and
- vii) Formulating strategies for attracting and retaining teachers from the Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes, OBCs and Minority communities.
